Study at The University of Queensland, Australia

Ranked among the top 100* universities in the world The University of Queensland (UQ) is one of Australia’s finest higher education institutions with:

- more awards for teaching excellence than any other Australian university
- exceptional program choice across a wide range of study areas at undergraduate, postgraduate and research higher degree levels
- opportunities for students to gain practical experience and make valuable connections with prospective employers through internships and work placements
- the chance to study part of their degree overseas at one of the University’s many partner institutions

With campuses based in and around the city of Brisbane, you will enjoy a diverse community of over 48,800 students, including over 11,500 international students from 142 different countries across the globe.

The University’s outstanding 210,000-plus alumni include a Nobel laureate, the CEO of a Fortune 500 company, an Academy Award winner, Olympic champions and leaders in government, law, science, public service and the arts.

UQ is a founding member of the national Group of Eight, a leading group of Australian universities that conducts a significant portion of all university research in Australia, as well as one of only three Australian universities to be a member of the global Universitas 21, an alliance allowing UQ to offer students unique opportunities to participate in student exchanges and events throughout the world.

At UQ, students can choose from just under 400 programs covering disciplines as diverse as Biomedical and Health Sciences to Engineering and Energy studies.

According to the QS World University Subject Rankings 2014, six of UQ’s subject disciplines are ranked in the world’s top 20 – education (10), environmental sciences (11), psychology (14), agriculture and forestry (18), English language and literature (20) and chemical engineering (20). A further four disciplines are included in the world’s top 50. These include: biological sciences (21), sociology (22), geography (26), and materials science (41).

UQ’s MBA is ranked number one in Australia and the Asia Pacific, as well as the leading MBA program outside Europe and North America by The Economist 2013 rankings. The UQ Business School is now also ranked number one in Australia for its MBA program in the 2013 Australian Financial Review BOSS MBA survey.
In addition to flexibility in program choice, UQ students also benefit from the opportunity to enjoy a wide range of extracurricular activities during their studies. This includes access to more than 190 clubs and societies, as well as sports and cultural facilities.

Research at UQ

The University has nine world class research institutes, and researchers whose innovations are having a global impact, including the creation of a cervical cancer vaccine, protection of the world’s food supply, and the installation of the largest photovoltaic solar panel in the southern hemisphere. As a UQ student you have the opportunity to be taught by and work alongside these researchers.

UQ facilities include multi-million dollar laboratories and research centres, one of the largest research library collections in Australia, and dedicated office space for research higher degree students.

Where is UQ?

UQ has four campuses in and around Brisbane, the capital city of the state of Queensland. It is the third largest city in Australia, after Sydney and Melbourne, and it has a multicultural population of around two million.

It has all the advantages of a large modern city, yet it retains the friendliness and charm of a small regional town. In the 2013 ‘Australia’ edition of the Lonely Planet travel guidebook, Brisbane was named as Australia’s coolest city.

An hour’s drive south of Brisbane, you will find the golden beaches and theme parks of the Gold Coast. North of the city you will find the Sunshine Coast beaches, national parks, rainforests and attractions like Australia Zoo. Just off the coast you will find the pristine Stradbroke and Moreton Islands, both popular day-trip and holiday destinations for locals and visitors alike.

Brisbane has hosted many large-scale cultural and sporting events, including the Commonwealth Games, Rugby World Cup and in November 2014 it will host the G20 summit.
